

MEMORIAL SERVICES

They Will Be Held in the Gymnasium Next Thursday

A meeting of citizens was held yesterday afternoon at the Episcopal rectory to arrange for services in memory of President McKinley. Rev. Unsworth was chosen chairman and A. C. Bragg secretary.

The offer of the gymnasium for the meeting was accepted.

A committee of finance and general arrangement was then selected, as follows: Henry Ritter, Albert Ayers, P. L. Flanagan, H. J. Gosse and T. J. Steinhilber.

Thursday at 10.30 a. m. was decided as the day and hour for holding the services. The committee of arrangements was instructed to confer with Superintendent Bray of the High School and invite him to take the school children in a body to the public ceremonies, after holding appropriate exercises at the high school building.

Hon. B. F. Currier was chosen to act as President of the Day and President J. E. Stubbs, Hon. A. E. Cheney and Hon. F. G. Newlands were selected to make addresses. The clergymen of Reno were invited to take part in the exercise and to arrange among themselves what particular part they would take.

Appointed on the Committee.

Mr. Newlands received the following telegram from Henry Casson, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives:

"Hon. Francis G. Newlands, Reno, Nevada.

"Speaker Henderson has appointed you a member of the House Committee to attend the President's funeral. Please advise me whether you will be here to attend.

HENRY CASSON, S. A."

In response Mr. Newlands telegraphed his great regret that the insufficiency of time in which to make the journey would prevent his attendance.

Nasby Is Doing a Rushing Business.

Mr. Nasby informed The Journal last evening that yesterday was probably the busiest day ever experienced in the local postoffice. The rush was so great Sunday that the office had to be kept open overtime. The receipts are steadily and rapidly increasing. This is a good criterion by which to judge of the progress of a town.

THE PLACE TO GO.

Take your watch, clock and jewelry repairing, diamond setting and engraving where none but expert workmen are employed. All work guaranteed by the Frank Golden Jewelry Company, leading jewelers of Nevada.

SALESMEN WANTED

Salemen wanted by reliable jobbing house. 5 traveling salesmen to place high-grade specialty line with merchandise trade, high commissions and permanent positions to good men, full time required. R. 78, 153 Fifth Ave. Chicago, Illinois.

TERSE AND TO THE POINT

Little Bits of Items, but Still Worthy of Mention.

Headquarters for Singer sewing machines—17 Commercial Row.

The Ladies Guild of Trinity Church will meet at Mrs. Blakeslee's this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Joe Simpson is feeding many hungry people at the Monarch Lunch Counter. He serves only the best in the market.

The funeral of the late W. O. H. Martin will take place Wednesday, but the hour has not yet been definitely settled upon.

The Monarch Saloon Company is putting on extra barkeepers to draw its celebrated Anheuser-Busch. It is the only eastern keg beer in Reno.

Last season the Elleford troupe broke the record for McKlaskie Opera House. Last night they broke their own record for a first night performance here.

H. Grant, conductor of the swing train, has been offered a passenger run from Sacramento to Fair Oaks. Mr. Grant is taking a brief lay-off and his train is being handled by H. Switzer.

Superintendent J. W. Hopkins of the Great Western mine was in from Steamboat. He expects some new machinery today and will immediately resume work upon his double compartment shaft.

It was given out that the Vulcan Smelting and Refining Company would have its smelter in operation here before fair week. It arrived a number of days ago, but has not yet been erected.

About forty people came down from Carson and Virginia yesterday. This was a good attendance for the first day of the fair, but it will be largely augmented today and the balance of the week.

Another Lofty Balloon Ascension.

At least five hundred people went out to "The Turf" Sunday afternoon to witness the balloon ascension. It was made by Prof. Harry Herrick, under direction of Robert Earlston. The silk bag reached an altitude beyond anything ever before witnessed in Reno. The drop was made without accident. There was only a slight breeze and the balloon was carried only a few hundred yards.

Many Games Running.

The gambling houses are doing a rushing business this week. Many new games have started up, including two in a tent across from the depot. The latter differ from what fair week usually bring, in that there is no flimflam, but straight percentage. Nothing else is allowed in the town.

A Fair Exchange.

Our circumstances are such that we need money—your circumstances are such that you need paper—both are evidence that we should do business. Porteous Decorative Co.

FIRST DAY OF THE STATE FAIR

Splendid Races Opened the Ball.

Seldom has been seen such a mingling of revelry and sadness as is to be witnessed at the fair grounds. The flags over the pavilion and grand stand are floating at half mast and above the entrance to the park are festoons of the badge of mourning and the likeness of the late martyred President. One man out of every three on the grounds wears a McKinley button and a wisp of crepe.

But the band plays its merriest airs. The horses gallop around the track and the winner is lustily cheered. It has been said that Americans take their pleasures sadly and bear their griefs with a jaunty air.

Although there is perhaps less of uproarious excitement promised for the present fair than has been evidenced on former years, that does not prevent the meet being as interesting as ever. In nearly every respect it will be the best ever held. The grounds have been beautified and every convenience and comfort added. The purses are larger and the runners and harness horses are more numerous than at any fair held in the State during the past decade. The pavilion exhibit promises to be a great attraction.

Already there are many more strangers in town than have usually been seen during fair week.

Right here let it be said, said truly and said emphatically that to the indomitable energy and enterprise of President Flanagan, backed by the hard and conscientious work of the secretary and committeemen is due the splendid manner in which the grounds have been renovated and the fair is being managed. Comment, in words of highest praise, is heard from the visitors as they arrive at the grounds.

The legislature cut down the appropriation for the fair, but the business men and citizens of Reno generally responded liberally when asked to contribute. The money that was expended on improvements was spent in economical manner and the society is left on a good business basis. All premiums and prizes will be paid cash on the nail. By the way, people who have any Nevada products they desire to exhibit in competition for the liberal prizes, have until this evening to engage space.

The opening day at the State Fair is generally an off one. Yesterday the management would have been satisfied with a crowd of 250 people, but they were agreeably disappointed. There were a goodly number in attendance and the crowd is expected to be two-fold today and double again tomorrow.

While the grand stand was as usual a popular place for the spectators, the balcony at the pavilion was liberally patronized. It is a comfortable place to view the races. The view is magnificent, not only of the track, but there is a vista of the emerald meadows of the Truckee and beyond are the brown hills rising peak on peak into the blue.

while in the middle ground, at the base of the range is the new mining town of Wedekind, with its score of white dumps looking like a colony of ant hills in the distance.

Mrs. Phelan has charge of the pavilion balcony.

Arrangements are being made to display a large number of exhibits. Mrs. Mable Dickey is entry clerk. At the south end of the lower floor of the building neat toilet rooms have been fitted up for ladies. An attendant is constantly in charge.

Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. Rafferty, Mrs. Burke and several other ladies have a refreshment stand on the upper floor of the building. They dispense ice cream, cake and lemonade. The proceeds will be devoted to the work of the Dominican sisters in this city.

The lower floor of the grand stand was a scene of activity yesterday. Henry Ritter's bar was constantly surrounded, the eating stand received a host of the floating cash and a number of games of chance were patronized liberally.

There were also the ubiquitous book-maker and pool auctioneer and the wise and countless young men who usually hang around the outer edge of the crowd to put them on to sure things.

When the time arrived for calling the first race of the day three was flung to the breeze from the Judges stand the flowing whiskers of Hon. Lem Allen of Churchill. Mr. Allen is as good a judge of a race horse or a race as he is of law and he has occupied this stand about as often as he has his desk in the legislative hall of the State.

Lem is acting as presiding judge pending the arrival of the regular appointee, Warren Noteware, who is expected tomorrow. The other judges are Senator Westerfield and Barney Campbell, both of whom are capable and will be on the lookout for any crooked work.

For a first day there were three good races yesterday, with purses aggregating $700. The track was in perfect shape and much faster by reason of the reduction in the grade on the back stretch. All the races were running. The first was a three-quarter run for a purse of $150. The entries were St. Anthony owned by John Kane and ridden by J. Prior; Roulette Wheel, owned by H. Willis and ridden by Gilbert; Catherine Bravo, owned by E. Carey and ridden by Logue; Skirmish, owned by B. P. Hobart and ridden by Hobart, and Coming Event, owned by J. Earl and ridden by Ross.

The last named was favorite and was heavily played until some wise men rallied to the support of Roulette Wheel and forced down the odds. It required twenty minutes for the get away, but finally they were off in a bunch. The race was anybody's until it was over, the ponies coming down the stretch neck and neck. The favorite got her nose under the wire first in 1.15 1-4. Roulette Wheel captured the second money and Skirmish third.

The track record was broken in the second race, a half mile dash for a purse of $150. The respective entries, owners and jockeys were: Lady Newlin, J. Brearley, Bennett; Abbie L. B. A. Chilson, Brodine; Sinfax, Jr., W. Owsly, Gilbert; Corn Cake, Al J. Smith, Logue. This was a beautiful dash and broke the track record in 47 3-4.

Joe Brearley's mare was the choice favorite and was heavily backed by local sports, but Bennett swung wide enough on the last turn to give Brodine the rail and Abbie L. won by a scant nose. Lady Newlin and Corn Cake respectively took second and third money.

The last race was the event of the day. A four hundred dollar purse and had been hung up for a three-quarter mile run. The entries, owners and riders were: Sylvan Lass, J. Kane, Prior; Montelade, B. A. Chilson, Brodine; Wing, C. P. Ferrell, Gilbert; Lodestar, Dan O'Keefe, McNichols; Whaleback, C. F. Beckel, Logue; Limber Jim, B. P. Hobart, Hobart.

Sylvan Lass was the favorite and was played heavily by the talent. Wing was marked at 10 to 1, but the Reno boys began to plank their money down so freely that the odds went down to eight, six and finally to five to one. The runners were off scattering with Wing a bad fourth. Steadily the lit-

Indications for Successful Week.

The maiden forged to the front and held her place, although at times she was hard pressed by the favorite. There was a scene of great enthusiasm when they came under the wire with the Reno sprinter a good head to the good, Limber Jim arriving third.

A crowd rushed down to Ferrell's quarters to gaze admiringly at the mare and to congratulate Anderson, the trainer, as well as the owner of the horse. The time for the race was 1:29 1-4.

There are two splendid stock exhibits on the fair grounds. Col. Marzen, the Lovelock cattle breeder, and John Sparks of Alamo are the exhibitors. The former has just returned from Sacramento, where he won fourteen prizes. He has 19 short horns in his herd and they are blue blooded beauties. The principal attraction is Sharon Victor VI, the champion bull of short horn class at the California State Fair.

Mr. Sparks' exhibit consists chiefly of Herefords. In one of the stalls is that famous lady, Armour Rose. Mr. Sparks considers her cheap at $2500, the price he paid for her. There are fifteen Herefords and five short horns in his exhibit herd. Twenty or more of his choicest stock have been sent to Salem and will be exhibited there. Upon their return they will be sent to Kansas City to the annual Hereford fair.

A meeting of the directors of the State Agricultural Society was held last night in the office of the secretary. The meeting was largely attended and very harmonious. Business of importance was transacted whereby the success of the week's meeting is assured. Following are the entries for today:

The program is a splendid one and will be followed by others equally as good. The management of the fair is giving the best races this week ever held in the State and the public should appreciate their efforts by attending largely and encouraging the board in their efforts to hold a State Fair that is well worthy the name.

JOHN H. DENNIS, Editor

NATIONAL IRRIGATION.

F. H. NEWELL, hydrographer of the United States geological survey, who addressed the Forestry association at Denver on the benefits of forests to the water supply, is a strong advocate of the national government taking up the work of the reclaiming of the arid lands of the west. His work with the geological survey has taken him all through the western country, he has made a close study of conditions, and he has come to the conclusion that the trans-Mississippi country needs government assistance in reclaiming its arid lands. In the August number of the Forester he states his views very pointedly. The Salt Lake Herald gives the following synopsis of Mr. Newell's argument in favor of national irrigation: "He points out that experience has pointed out time and again that corporations who have built large irrigation works invariably lose on their investment. He cites as an example the Bear Valley works of southern California. This is one of the largest irrigation schemes ever undertaken by private capital, the cost running up to nearly $2,000,000. It has been the means of transforming what was fifteen years ago a desert into the now celebrated Reglands orange district. Though it has created property values estimated at more than $5,000,000, yet the works have never paid the investors.

All the expenses of reclaiming the desert, Mr. Newell shows, could be paid out of the funds received from the sale of public lands. In the case of government construction the problem is much less difficult than when the work is done by private enterprise that must receive returns on the investment commensurate with the cost and difficulty of the undertaking. The government could afford to wait a much longer time for returns from its work, and while each particular item of expense might not from the outset be a money-making investment, yet in the aggregate the increased prosperity of the whole property would justify the outlay.

He compares the present condition of the west to that which existed in the east in the days preceding systematic improvement of rivers and harbors. Certain necessary works were executed on these by municipalities, but trade and commerce languished because the large works were found to be unprofitable, and no one community was able to bring about the necessary changes, though when these were made property values increased far beyond the outlay required.

There is no doubt that with wise and forceful legislation, in accordance with the argument of Mr. Newell, thousands of homes can be added to the country. Eastern business men it is said are beginning to appreciate that they have a vital interest in building up home markets in the unoccupied regions in the arid west. If this is the case, western Senators and Congressmen should find it easier to secure some preparatory action by Congress, and they should leave no stone unturned until they have secured the necessary legislation to reclaim the whole of the great American desert.

In The Journal's opinion no system yet suggested will meet all the requirements, better than is provided for in Congressman Newlands' bill which was introduced at the last session.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES.

THE JOURNAL published a short article Sunday morning relative to the memorial services which were proposed to be held at the opera house that evening. Knowing that next Thursday was the day designated by national authority for such services throughout the union, we could not understand why a day so long previous should be selected for Reno's tribute to the memory of the dead President. We took especial pains to ascertain who were the promoters of the movement, but failed to find anyone who had heard anything about it until the appearance of the program in the evening paper, but we did hear a good deal of adverse criticism upon the manner in which the movement was inaugurated.

While freely admitting that we were in error, in our inference that the promoters were actuated by political motives, which we would have known if we had been able to ascertain their identity, we maintain that all of the circumstances justified The Journal's remarks concerning it.

The facts are these: Three of our local clergymen met for the purpose of arranging for a union memorial service, to be held in one of the churches. After considering the matter, and presumably not knowing that a day had been appointed for general observation, they concluded that it would be better to take the initiative in calling a mass meeting at the opera house, and formulated a program therefor. The fact that Judge Currier was asked to appear upon the program as one of the speakers is conclusive evidence that no political preference was intended by the Reverend gentlemen whose only mistake was that in their zeal they were a little "too previous" and in not following the usual form of procedure in calling public assemblages of that character.

The journal did not care the value of a nickel when the program was composed entirely of Republicans, Democrats, Populists or of any other political faith, except that of anarchism. Its only objection was the apparent political prejudice of the promoters, in which we take pleasure in stating was not the fact. The Journal will never knowingly wrong any individual or class and in this case its inference was shared by every person of both or all parties of whom we made inquiries concerning their knowledge of the meeting.

At the suggestion of one of the clergymen who participated in the former meeting, and who frankly admitted that a mistake had been made, there was an assemblage of representative citizens yesterday afternoon and a program was formulated, and all arrangements made for memorial services to be held at the University Gymnasium next Thursday at 10:30 a. m.

The program will be found on another page in this issue.

AS GOOD AS OLD WHEAT

The Ever Popular Elleford Troupe Here Again.

Last evening at the McManis Opera House the ever popular Elleford Company began their annual engagement to an audience that crowded every nook and crevice of the theatre. Even a hundred extra seats were insufficient and many were unable to secure standing room.

Gillette's famous play, "Secret Service," was the bill. It was staged and enacted in a manner never before seen here.

The principal act was the third. The scene was a telegraph office and the business of sending and receiving telegrams was most interesting.

The play throughout was thrilling and captivating. A wholesome play, one that appeals to the better instincts and is uplifting--none other are included in the Elleford repertoire.

The troupe is the strongest that Mr. Elleford has ever had, each individual member is worthy of separate and favorable criticism.

Tonight the New York comedy-drama, "The American Girl," will be the attraction. This is one of the most spirited comedies ever written and is overflowing with laughter-producing scenes and exciting climaxes.

Baby Lillian and Little Evelyn, the wonderful child actresses, will appear as Prince Roy and Little Lady. Specialties will also be introduced.

Thieves do strictly a liquor business, he carries the stock and can do better by you than any house in the town, give him a trial.
